

medium

eer

health centre
school project

mens sana

project: the centre of the city of brussels is defined by a pentagon, one of the sides consists of an important canal. in past times it has been used for industrial transport as well as recreational purposes, now it is a rather abundant and desolate area, surrounded by poor quality housing with no recreational facilities. the proposal re-installs former promenades along the canal, with possibilities to access a chain of transparent buildings offering a variation of entertainment. the "mental" entertainment area is linked to the housing through a zone for "physical" sports facilities.

project mens sana
function health centre
location brussels
belgium
year 1991

eer architectural design
info@eerdesign.com